Some podcasts where Felicia has been a guest:

It's Time to Create REAL Relationships in an Overly-Connected Technological World

We live in a world today filled with distractions, 24-hour-a-day entertainment and news options, and constant pulls for our attention. What matters most often gets drowned out in the noise. None of us gets through life on our own. As human beings we need to develop REAL relationships in order to succeed in fulfilling our life's purpose.

During this fun, inspiring, and uplifting interview, your guests will discover:

- How we got to a place where people talk "at" each other instead of building relationships
- What to do in a REAL relationship – Respect, Engage, Affirm, and Laugh
- How it feels when you are in a REAL relationship – Recognized, Energized, Accepted, and Loved
- Top 5 relationship killers on social media that will mess you up
- Fun, interesting, and creative ways to use technology to help us build real relationships
- ASK HER ANYTHING!

Felicia presents from a Christian background and incorporates her faith into her interviews and comfortably switches between more religious and more secular audiences with ease and grace: all audiences love her – and so will yours!
